

JANICE PULLICINO

-BIOGRAPHY

Janice Pullicino began her professional artist career in the spring of 2003. In the short time since, she has commanded several commissions and has had her work exhibited and sold in over 20 shows. She continues to take art classes and has studied at Pratt Institute, Parsons School of Design (The New School), The New York Academy of Art, the Brooklyn Botanic Gardens, and privately.

Ms. Pullicino's forte is watercolor landscape painting, as well as architectural and botanic illustrative painting and drawing. She is versatile in her approach to watercolor painting, and her work is in numerous private and corporate collections.
